With over 20 years in the industry and after working in general practice, Amy found her passion in emergency medicine.

In 2003 she became a Veterinary Technician Specialist in Emergency and Critical Care.

Amy is currently employed with Blue Pearl Veterinary Partners as the Program Manager for Training and Team Development.

She currently sits on the Academy of Veterinary Emergency & Critical Care Technicians board as the immediate Past President. Amy is well published in over 15 subjects, is an international speaker, has received numerous awards including two speaker of the year awards and is highly involved in her community. She is dedicated to the field of veterinary medicine, the education and development of veterinary technicians and assistants and the advancement of the veterinary technician as a profession.

She lives in Massachusetts with her wonderful furry kids where you can find her eating chocolate, running in the woods, competing in agility and diving in the ocean.
